Description :

Prsentation de l'diteurIs ANYTHING worse than writing essays? It Doesn't Have to Be That Way!Heres a scenario Ive experienced about 100 times. Have you? Its about 7:00PM on a Sunday night. Youre tired.

Youve just eaten dinner. All you want to do is curl up on the couch and watch Netflix. But you cant. Because you have a stupid paper to write. In fact, youve had the same paper to write for weeks. Youve just been putting it off. The worst part? Its due Monday morning at 8AM. Ugh. Now, you have to spend the rest of your Sunday night figuring out some way to get 2,000 words out of your head and into a Word doc. Before you even start, you know whats going to happen. Youre going to open log onto your laptop, open a word doc, and just stare at it probably for the better part of an hour trying to come up with something (anything!) to say. And it wont come. At least not easily. Youll still be sitting there as the hours roll by: 8PM 9PM 10PM And before you know it, its midnight, and youve got two whole paragraphs to show for it. When you just cant wait anymore, you force yourself to write just so you can catch a few hours of sleep. It doesnt have to be that way. Heres what most people dont know about essays. Its not about luck. Its not about having great ideas. Its not even particularly about how good of a writer you are. Nope. Its about having a good system for writing essays. What if instead of staring at your computer screen trying to come up with something brilliant to say, you had a big, organized pool of information all lined up and ready to be plopped into your essay almost without thinking? What if you could almost entirely eliminate lots of the extra work most people put into an essay (which, by the way, doesnt even help get better grades)? What if you understood exactly what makes a good essay and could focus only on those specific things instead of just guessing? Thats the power of a good system. And Im going to help you. I graded college essays for YEARS. Now I want to help. During my time as a college professor, Ive assigned and graded just about every kind of essay known to man. Ive also WRITTEN just about every kind of writing on the planet. That combination writing millions of words of content and grading thousands of essays helped me come up with a pretty nifty system for knocking out a good paper. Lets be clear: this isnt just paint-by-number. Youll still have to do a bit of work. We this system will do, however, is totally streamline the process and help you get much better grades. In fact, the students I help usually cut their writing time in half and increase the grades on their essays by almost a full letter. In fact, many of them become the person helping THEIR friends with their essays. You just have to learn it. Heres what youll learn: How to never run out of things to say Why thesis statements are dumb and what to do instead Why you should never write your introduction first How to apply the principles of lean manufacturing and batching to essay writing How many sources you really need How long your paper needs to be How to avoid getting stuck (or writers block) and a lot more! Sound cool? Scroll up, and click that BUY button, so you can take the stress out of your next paper, spend less time writing, and become the person your friends ask to help THEM.
