Description :

Prsentation de l'diteurIt isn't often you receive a letter from the dead.When Vianne Rocher receives a letter from beyond the grave, she allows the wind to blow her back to the village in south-west France where, eight years ago, she opened up a chocolate shop. But Lansquenet is different now: women veiled in black, the scent of spices and peppermint tea, and, on the bank of the river Tannes, facing the church: a minaret.Nor is it only the incomers from North Africa that have brought change. Father Reynaud, Viannes erstwhile adversary, is disgraced and under threat. Could it be that Vianne is the only one who can save him now?Revue de presseThe puzzle explodes with incandescent intensity. Kirkus Harriss skill at vibrantly depicting the charm and eccentricity of rural French life is at the heart of this delightful novel. Library

JournalWorth immersing yourself in the sights, sounds and smells of Lansquenets narrow 200-year-old streets. The Washington Post Nancy Robertson Readers familiar with the Rochers will welcome the newest installment of their story, particularly as it addresses contemporary problems in a familiar setting.
